ALDERMEN ON TRIAL

Callen, Maneese and Doughty Before Judge White for Conspiracy.

FORMER EVIDENCE SUBMITTED.

The F. & M. Bank Has $85,300.87 for Distribution Among Creditors.

THE SUPREME COURT'S SESSION ENDS. Aldermen W. M. Maneese, D. R. Callen and D. Doughty were placed on trial before Judge White yesterday on charges of conspiracy in connection with their dealings with the Bauder gang. Bauder himself, with his detectives Doyle, Dougherty, Nagle and McCall were jointly indicted with the aldermen and were present in court. The defense were represented by an array of legal talent including Thomas Marshall, Sr., W. D. Moore, William Reardon, T. J. Keenau, L. T. Stone, F. S. Par-ker, R. A. Sifl and W. J. Brennan. District Attorney Porter was present for the Commonwealth and Clarence Burleigh represented the Department of Public Safety. It was about 2 o'clock when a jury was secured, and Mr. Reardon at once asked the Court if the Bauder gang could be tried on the indictment, as they had already been convicted for conspiracy on much the same evidence as could be shown here. The Court evidence as could be shown here. The Court overruled Mr. Reardon, staring that the evidence might be in a large measure entirely different from that heard at the former trial, and the presumption that it was the same could not be allowed. Mr. Burleich opened the case by addressing the jury on the points of conspiracy, clearly defining it as outlined in his speech on the same subject when the hauder gang were tried. He anneunced his intention to show by substantial evidence the proof beyond a reasonable doubt of the conspiracy charged in the indictment against the Addermen and the Bauder Detective Agency which did their part of the work. He then called E. J. Donnelly.

Mr. Burleigh-You are a member of the bar, Mr. Donnelly.

Donnelly—Yes, sir. Burleigh—And a stenographer?

Mr. Donnelly—Yes, sir.
Mr. Burleigh—Yes, sir.
Mr. Burleigh—You reperted the case tried here some weeks ago, in the case against the Bauder gang?
Mr. Donnelly—Yes, sir, some of it.
Mr. Burleigh—You took the testimony of Aldermen Mannese, Callen and Doughty?
Mr. Donnelly—Yes, sir.
At this point Mr. Beardon objected and asked what it was intended to show. Mr. Burleigh replied that he intended to show by the evidence of the defendants themselves their complicity with the Bauder gang and thereby prove conspiracy. Judge White said he might show this evidence, and it would be allowed in so far as it affected the defendants.
Mr. Reardon then asked if the shorthand notes were to be taken in evidence, and Mr. Burleigh said it had been reduced to writing. The writing was then asked for, and after some little delay was produced, when all the attorners for the defense looked it over. They asked Mr. Donnelly how he knew it was the same and he said he had compared it with his notes. Judge White then read it and ruled the testimony relevant and not objectionable. Mr. Burleigh then offered it in evidence and read it to the jury. It was very voluminous and after reading for half an hour his throat gave out and Mr. Porter relieved him. He had not finshed when court adjourned until this morning. It was practically the testimony published at the time of the previous trial. MONEY LEFT FOR DIVISION.

The F. & M. Bank Can Pay 20 2-3 Per Cent of the Claims Against It-A Balnuce of $85,300 S7 for Distribution. W. H. McClung, Esq., yesterday filed his report as auditor of the accounts of J. H. Sorg, H. J. Berg, Jr., and L. S. Conningham, assigneds H. J. Berg.Jr., and L. S. Cunningham, assignees of the Farmers' and Mechanics' Bank, of East Birmingham, and reported a schedule for the distribution of the funds on hand. He began his audit on Monday, September 6, and concluded it on Saturday, October 5. Prior to the meeting a careful and exhansitive examination.

Mays' work. Not one case was tried or a jury called, though there were about 50 cases of the list. All of them were disposed of by postponements, centinuances, etc. The Concluded it on Saturday, October 5. Prior to the meeting a careful and exhansitive examination. meeting a careful and exhaustive examination meeting a careful and exhaustive examination of the books of the bank was made by H. J. Berg, Jr., and a schedule prepared, showing the names of the depositors and creditors and the amounts due them. This was sworn to by the cashier, and was of great assistance to the auditor in his work. The auditor reported as preferred creditors George A. Sexauer $538.22 for repairs to the bank building, and a number of small depositors whose deposits aggregated $588.27 and were made on October 12, 1888, the last day the bank was open for business. On that day the directors discovered that there was a discrepancy in the accounts of $200,000. They at first believed that this was only the mistake of the accountants, and thought the bank still solvent. But to be sure, all deposits received after noon that day were placed in an envelope and marked with the name of the depositor. This money was afterward turned into the general fund, but the auditor holds that from the facts, the deposit was never fully accepted and those depositors are entitled to preference. facts, the deposit was never fully accepted and those depositors are entitled to preference. The assignment of the bank was made on Oc-

The auditor further reported a difficulty in computing the interest on a number of ac-counts, as the depositors did not appear nor send in their pass books, and there was noth-ing to show the interest-bearing quality of the debts.

ents. He states that there are 989 claimants against the bank. Of these over 300 appeared before the auditor in person or by attorney. The en-tire indebtedness of the bank is $320,719 76. Of this $551 49 represents preferred claims and the balance general indeptedness, entitled to a pro-rata distribution. The fund for distribution is $86,886 81. Deducting the preferred claims, leaves a balance of $85,300 87, a sum sufficient for a dividend of 20% per cent upon the claims constituting the general indebtedness of the bank. The auditor furnished a list in detail of the various claims against the bank. They ranged in amount from $10 to nearly $4,000. The report now awaits the taking of an appeal, and if none is made within 20 days, the money will be distributed.

PERMISSION TO SELL.

The Old Crimiual Court and University Buildings May be Disposed of.

The application of the County Commission te the Quarter Sessions Court for permission to sell the old Criminal Court and University buildings on Diamond alley was granted yesterday. Under the act of May 14, 1874, this permission to sell county buildings not needed from the Quarter Sessions Court is required.
The provisions of this act were not uncarthed until after the veto of Governor Beaver to the mitil after the veio of Governor Beaver to the bill authorizing the sale of the two buildings in question. When it was discovered that the property could be sold, the formal application was made to the Court by County. Solicitor Geyer for the County Commissioners. The buildings are new at the disposal of the County Commissioners. They have as yet not decided whether to sell one or both of the buildings. In all probabilities the old Criminal Court building will be put up for sale, but the University building is still in dispute. The sale of it has been advocated, but the matter of leasing it for a long term of years at a rent that would equal the interest that would be payable on an amount of money equal to the value of the building, if borrowed by the county, is also under consideration. By this plan, if the county needed more room at the end of the period for which the building would be leased, they would not decrease in value.

HE WOULDN'T BUY THE LOTS And Mrs. Carrell Brought a Bill in Equity to Force Mr. Herron. A bill in equity was filed yesterday by Martha J. Carroll against John W. Herron. It is alleged J. Carroll against John W. Herron. It is alleged by the plaintiff that an agreement was entered into between her and the defendant, he to purchase from her a lot on Third avenue, near Cherry alley, four lots on Fayette street, Allegheny, and a two-thirds interest in a piece of property on Bedford avenue, for $25,000. She states that he afterward refused to jurchase the property and she wants a decree of court to compel him to do so.

Herron filed his answer to the suit, admitting the agreement, but claiming as a reason for not fulfilling it that the plaintiff did not possess a title in fee simple to the property.

An adjournment was taken, but it is believed that nothing further will be heard, and that the commissioner will be empowered to make his report next week.

CLOSED ITS SESSION.

The Supreme Court Winds Up Its Present After a session lasting nearly five weeks the yesterday in this city by handing down four isions and ordering a re-argument. In the case of Samuel G. De Turk against the commonwealth, error from Common Pleas, Schuylkill county, Justice McCollum handed lown the decision. De Turk was postmaster of De Turksville, and on November 8, 1887, was of De Turksville, and on November 8, 1887, was elected County Commissioner of Schuylkill county, serving in both capacities. On October 24, 1888, at the suggestion of the District Attorney, a quo warranto was issued on De Tark to show cause why he should not be removed from the office of the County Commissioner. An act of Congress prohibited any person from holding a position of trust under the Government and at the same time a salaried office under the State. De Tark resigned the postmastership on November 13, 1888, but on January 14, 1899, a judgment of ouster was entered, under the State. De Turk resigned the postmastership on November 13, 1888, but on January 14, 1888, a judgment of onster was entered, thus dispossessing him of the County Commissionership. De Turk nppealed, and Justice McCollum decided the case in his favor. The opinion held that the act of Congress could be enforced without legislative aid. The lower court was therefore reversed.

Justice Ctark handed down an opinion in the case of John Willis' appeal from Common Pleas of Washington county, in his suit against the Manufacturers' Natural Gas Company. The suit was on a coverant contained in the lease of gas and oil rights to the gas company. Willis claimed a forfeit of $1,000 per year under the contract for the company's not boring wells within the specified time.
The company resisted the claim on the grounds of another clause in the lease which said that it they did not comply with the terms the arroement was to be null and void. This would therefore annul forfeits and everything else, they said, as they had not complied with the terms. Justice Ctark, in his opinion, said that this clause was inserted solely for the lessor's benefit, and it was oppleand with him to that this clause was inserted solely for the lessor's benefit, and it was optional with him to maintain it or annul it, as suited him. The lower court was reversed and the record reitted for the entering of judgment against

In the case of Alfred Palmer and William H. Force, Jr., and wife against H. Farrell and wife an action in ejectment, appealed on an error to Common Pleas No. 3, of Philadelphia, the judgment of a nonsuit was reversed, and a trial ordered. In the case of Henry Hessel against M. T.

chinston, an action in a lease, appealed on an error to Common Pleas No. 4, of Philadelphia, algement was reversed, and a new trial orered. Re-arguments were ordered in the cases re-garding Ruan street and Washington avenue, Philadelphia, the court desiring to have before the whole of the street act of 1887. The cases where ordered to be placed at the head of the Philadelphia lite.

where ordered to be placed at the head of the Philadelphia list.

Argument was made in the appeal of Edward Bindley from the decree of Common Pleas No. 2 of Allegheny county. Bindley had a claim against the Pittsburg Savings Bank which was disallowed by a master and adopted by the lower court, the amount involved being $1,000.

An argument was also heard in the case of George W. Guthrie, trustee, in re J. T. Stockdale, trustee for Michael Maginn, on appeal from Common Pleas No. 2. Allegheny county. The case is the acceptance of the report of an auditor distributing the fund of the Pittsburg Savings Bank. The bill prays for a dissolution of the incorporated joint stock company known as the Pittsburg Savings Bank, the appointment of a receiver, and an account between shareholders. Nearly analogous is the appeal of George W. Guthrie from Common Pleas No. 2 of Allegueny county, also argued. The appeal is against the distribution among some of the creditors of the money belonging to the bank. The fund in dispute is $11,26.30, raised by a sale of a portion of the real estate of the bank held at the time of suspension. testimony relevant and not objectionable. Mr. Burleigh then offered it in evidence and read it

An argument was heard in the case of Riddie, Dean & Co. against the New York, Lake Erie and Western Railroad Company operating the New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio Railroad. The suit was for damages, the plaintiffs claiming that the railroad company had refused to furnish them cars for coal shipments. They filed a complaint with the Inter-State Commerce Commission, but they decided that they had no power to assess damages, and the suit was brought. The railroad company asserts that the plaintiffs cannot maintain their, suit, as the finer-State Commerce Commission have power in the question, and the plaintiffs, having chosen it for their tribunal, could not continue in the

In the Criminal Court yesterday, Alberta Wilson, the Allegheny girl who was indicted for infanticide tor killing her child, entered a plea of guilty to the court of concealing the death of an illegitimate child. The plea was received by the court and she will be disposed of on Friday.

It has been the invariable custom of President Harrison's predecessors to have the message printed at the Government Printing Office, and copies sent out to the news-papers of the country under restrictions that it shall not be used until presented to Congress. The fact that on one or two occasions some compositor or other employe, who was sworn to secrecy, leaked and mude it possible for the message, or parts of it, to become known in advance, has caused Mr. Harrison to adopt extra precautions with his document. No one will get a peep at it
